Highlight of career

■ DAVID Deane, principal of David Deane Real Estate in Strathpine, has been celebrating the "highlight of my career".

He was presented with the John Greig Trophy at the sixth Australasian Real Estate Agency Best Practice Awards in Cooloom.

It was just the third time a major best practice award has been won by a Queenslander.

The John Greig Trophy is given to an agency principal who has shown 'selfless service to estate agency practice', 'peer recognition as an industry leader' and been a 'positive role model'.

"I am extremely humbled and honoured," David said. "Although this award has been won by me, my team is very much responsible for the accolade.

"It is an absolutely unexpected award which represented the highlight of my career to date."

The Best Practice Group is made up of the top independent real estate agents in Australia and New Zealand.
